PERSONAL PRIVILEGE. Mr. Robinson took the floor and said : MR. PRESIDENT:-With the indulgence of the Senate, I desire to add a few remarks to what I said on yesterday on a matter personal to myself. I feel, sir, on reflection, that it is due to myself, and especially to the constitueny that I have the honor to represent in this body, that I should ask the appointment, by the Senate, of a committee to investigate the insinuation, or charges, contained in the so-called petition, a part of which I read to the Senate yesterday, as follows:

"To the Honorable the General Assembly of North Carolina; The petition of Josiah Turner showeth unto your honorable body he has reason to believe fraud, bribery and corruption prevailed in the transaction which resulted in the sale of the Western North Carolina Railroad, and that a large claim or judgment allowed by the committee who recently purchased the road was bogus and fraudulent. The evidence is secondary, but your peitioner firmly believes it.

Now, sir, I desire to reiterate that I not have the least fear of my reputation being injured, by anything that Josiah Turner can say, in the estimation of the people of North Caroing department, Mr. Henry Porter, both lina, who know me and know Mr. Turner. I think, however, that it is due the honest people that I represent, that a committee shall be appointed to investigate the entire matter. In further explanation of the negotiation made by e commission for the purchase of the Western North Carolina Railroad, I desire to call attention to the Message of His Excellency, Gov. Caldwell, to the General Assembly at the session of I quote from the Governor's language

I therefore suggest to the General Asembly the passage of an act to amend the charter of the North Carolina Railroad Company, and confer upon it the necessary power and authority to pur-chase the Western North Carolina Railroad and all its branches or divisions," The Governor farther says that the owners of the road from Morristown, with the creditors and litigants of the Western orth Carolina Railroad Company. signed an agreement in which it is proposed to sell and transfer to the North Carolina Railroad Company the whole line of road from Salisbury to Morrisown for about one million of dollars. This, of course, was to be paid in cash. Again, sir, a commission appointed under chapter 139, laws of 1872 73, consisting of Gov. Tod R. Caldwell and Hons. George Davis, Mathias E. Manly, Joseph H. Wilson and Walter L. Steele, and on the part of the Circuit Court, Hon, B. S. Gaither and Marcus Erwin Esq., organized (with the exception of Messrs. Davis and Erwin, who declined to act,) and after looking into the affairs of this company and ascertaining the amount of claims against said company to be in round numbers about $1,300,000, they recommended the Legislature to authorize the North Carolina Railroad Company to buy said claims, &c., and to pay in cash for the same about $785,000, Again. I might mention that two different sessions of the General Assembly in the last few years have had able committees to investigate the charges of fraud, mention the names of Messrs. R. T.

Bennett, T. D. Bryson, and W. A. Graham, Jr., who served on these commitmittees and in every case those committees reported there was nothing in the character of the claims to authorize the State to interfer. I quote from meen o ry in this last matter without refer.nee-to reports, but think I am correct So much for the opinions and recommendations of able men who preceded our commission in looking into the claims against the Western North Carolina Railroad Company.

I, therefore, Mr. President, move you that a committee of three or five be appointed with authority to enquire into the insinuations, or charges, con-tained in this petition so-called. In conclusion, sir, I repel any intima-tion coming from Josiah Turner or elsewhere that the commissioners have knowingly allowed any fraudulent claim, as a vile slander and miserable false-Mr. Short hoped that no such measure would be adopted. No Senator on this floor believed that there is the slightest ground for the insimuations laid by Tunner at the doors of some of the best gentlemen in the State, and to accede to the request of Mr. Robinson would be to lend dignity to the charge. Mr. Justice spoke to the same purpose. He thought it due the Senator from Macon that he should be denied the committee for which he asks, and thus put the seal of the Senate upon the man who makes these grave charges upon information which he himself acknowledges was received from second Mr. York agreed in all respects with the two gentlemen who had pre-ceded him. He thought that the Senate owed it to itself and to the Senator from Macon to refuse the Senator the committee for which he asked.

Mr. Folk said that the Senate had already devoted too much time to this matter. Its course in the matter was calculated to lend dignity to Turner, and he hoped that the committee asked for would be promptly refused and thus have an end of the whole matter. Mr. Scales agreed with Mr. Folk. The Senate had had its time taken up memorials of this crazy brain, and he was sure this body was tired of it. Mr. Crawford was in favor of a com mittee to confer with Dr. Grissom, and have quarters prepared for Turner. He was happy to state that Turner had gone home now, and hoped that if he came back, a committee of the Senate would kidnap him and turn him over to time and again with the petitions and

Mr. Johnston warmly rebuked the spirit which had prompted this covert attack upon Mr. Robinson and other gentlemen. He knew, and the whole people of the State know, that there is no more honorable man than the Senator from Macon, and the calumnies upon him were calumnies upon the people which he represents and, in measure, upon all the people of the The vote was then taken upon the request of Mr. Robinson for a committee of investigation, and it was unanimous. ly refused.

Mr. Cunningham spoke at length on the measure before the Senate, arguing n general in favor of an usury law.

Mr, Finger opposed the substitute and hoped that it would not pass. Mr. Dortch also opposed it since the penalty had been stricken out and the bill rendered nugatory, and the substitute was not adopted.

Mr. Stanford then submitted, as a substitute to Mr. Finger's bill, the bill introduced by himself, which came up first under the special order and which he had asked to have passed over at that time. He took the floor in advocaey of his substitute.

Mr. Thorne argued in advocacy of a

Mr. Graham wanted State Banks put on the same footing with National Banks.

Mr. Dortch asked for the yeas and naps on the amendment of Mr. Robins, and these being ordered the vote was taken and resulted, ayes 20, nays 15. previous question. The call was sustained, and the vote stood: ayes 29, Mr. Latham moved to suspend the rules and put the bill on its third read-Mr. Graham wanted the bill postponed, not in any unfriendliness to it, and moved to adjourn.

On this motion Mr. Latham called the yeas and nays, and the Senate refused to adjourn, ayes 15, nays 21.

Mr. Latham renewed his to motion to suspended the rules and put the bill on its third reading, and on a division, called for by Mr. Dortch, the motion was agreed to. After amendments by Messrs. Gra-

It is entitled "a bill to repeal chapter 84, public laws of 1874, and 1875, and to regulate the rate of interest." The bill as amended by the committee on Banks and Currency, and by amendments of Messrs. Robins, Graham and Sandifer, reads as follows:

Kittrell Springs.

This popular summer resort, we hear, has just been leased to Mr. C. D. Davenport for a female school. Mr. Davenport's reputation as a teacher, and his advantage in locality, will offer many inducements to those having children to educate. At Kittrell's, children from eastern Carolina may repair their broken down constitutions and at the same time acquire a good education.

No one would willingly disturb the comfort of a public gathering by constant coughing; but we feel that it is the proper thing to call the attention of those afflicted with coughs and colds to Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, which always The Minstrels Last Night.

Tucker Hall was packed last night. The best people in the city turned out, and public expectation was more than realized. We had unhesitatingly recommended the entertainment in advance on the faith of Haverly's name, but were not prepared for so excellent an entertainment as was afforded. It was the most laughable minstrel show that has ever been in this State. The company of which Milt. Barlow and George Wilson are the bright, partiet lar stars may have some points of superiority over this one, but taking this for all in all there is much more real eujoyment in it. Hank Goodman is a minstrel show of himself, and he and Boyd make end men hard to beat. West, on the banjo, is tip-top. There is nothing funnier than the sketches of Boyd and Wade, and the songs and dances are very fine. There are some unusually fine voices in the company, and the music, both vocal and instrumental, is of a very high order. The jokes are all new, and none of them are stupid. The extravaganza, "Tom and Jerry," brought down the house, and if any one part of the entertainment caused more merriment than another this was it. We cannot particularize as much as we desire. It gives us much pleasure to say that the minstrels will remain over another night. The opening of the doors to-night will be the signal for the crowding of the hall. It does people good to attend such an entertainment. and few who were present last night will fail to go to-night.

A Year of Momentous Political Events.

Prospectus of the Raleigh News.

Momentous events are thronging to the front. Two political parties of the country are marshaling their intellectual forces for the constitutional battle, on which hangs the fate of the government or the ensuing four years, perhaps for all the time. From now until the 4th of March the republic will be the theatre of a drama more thrilling in interest than any before enacted in America, to be followed, in all probability, by a period of the profoundest concern to all our people. Some predict a terrible clash of arms, but whether or not war results from the turbulent condition of the public mind, it is certain that the year 1877 will see thick crowding occurrences of great moment. Of these events and circumstances the News will be a watchful, faithful chronicler. Its news will be the freshest and fullest that competent and experienced journalists can obtain on whatever field the same is to be collected.

The NEWS will endeavor, in its editorial course, to uphold the constitution and the laws guaranteeing a truly republican form of government. It will counsel moderation in the treatment of political questions, but firmness in the defence and maintenance of right, as the ouly foundation of enduring peace.

The NEWS is the authorized organ of the Democratic party.

In all its departments - News and Correspondence, Political, Commercial, Financial, Agricultural, Local, Miscellaneous, &c., the NEWS will at least sustain the character it has so long held, and which has been acknowledged in thousands of commendations from the press, and from the reading public.

THE Democratic position-we ask nothing but that which is right, and will submit to nothing that is wrong.

THE letter from California which we print this morning was written by one of the many gallant young North Carolinians who emigrated to the Pacific slope soon after the war. It will be seen that the tar-heels in that far-away sunny land still turn with longing towards the old State, and hurrah for Vance the same as ever. Kern county whence this letter comes, is one of the wildest sections of California, and lies on the banks of Lake Tulare, in the extreme Southern part of the State. It is gratifying to know that the NEWS gives pleasure in those remote regions.

THE JOINT COMMITTEE REPORT

The country will breathe freer now that a plan has been fixed upon for the counting of the electoral vote. The bare fact that the joint committee have agreed will be hailed with something akin to joy throughout the Union; for it at once dissipates all fears of a collision. A peaceful settlement of the diffi culty is now a certainty; or at least as much a certainty as anything in the future can be. The plan proposed by the committee, which we printed in our dispatches yesterday morning, is perhaps the most fair, judicious and conciliatory plan which could have been hit upon; and will no doubt lead to a beneficial result, No serious objections can be raised against it; and its adoption by Congress is almost certain.

THE SPECIAL TAX BONDS.

The class of bonds known as special tax bonds amount to $11,366,000.00. principal; and $4,880,550.00, interest unpaid, giving a total, principal and interest, of $16,246,550.00. The total debt, including interest, exclusive of the special tax bonds, is $25,542,160,45. The total debt, with interest, including the special tax bonds, is $41,788,710.45.

This is an enormous load of debt. The State has staggered under it for years. Until it is lifted or lightened we can not hope for that prosperity which is so needful for the revival and invigoration of our depressed industries.

Sixteen millions of the debt can be lifted from the State's burdened shoulders by the stroke of a pen. We allude to the special tax bonds. These were conceived in sin and born in corruption. Our people are under no moral obligation to pay them, ever.

Were open repudiation of them necessary, we should say repudiate; disavow, reject them; cast them; off as things of fraud and bantlings of bribery. But repudiation is unnuecessary at present. For the special tax bonds are unconstitutional, and the next Supreme Court elected by the people of North Carolina will in all probability declare them so. It is better, perhaps, that they should be knocked in the head with the law than by the General As-

In any scheme to fund the debt, the special Tax Bonds should not only be left out in the cold, but it should be understood that they will never be recognized by our people or their representatives. The seal of North Carolina's condemnation should be stamped upon the face of every one of them.

The State of Georgia disposed summarily of the infamous Bullock bonds, bonds not more infamous than our "special tax." They were openly disavowed as being no part of the legal indebtedness of the State; and Georgia's credit to-day is re-established. The repudiation of the Bullock bonds, together with the promptness with which provision was made for the payment of the honest debt, worked like magic upon the welfare of the State; and Georgia to-day leads all her sister Southern States on the high-way to prosperity. So that she is justly called the Empire State of the South.

Should the Supreme Court of this State, as it will be constituted a year or two hence, hold the special tax bonds to be constitutional, then it will be in order for the General Assembly to come forward and cut them up by the roots.

EXUBERANCE OF BUSINESS MEN OVER THE RESULT.

[From N. Y. Herald Correspondent.]

Washington, Jan. 17, 1877 .- The oint committee have at last agreed, and though the nature of the plan on which they have united will not be revealed until they bring in their report to-morrow, there is a sensation of intense reief all over the town, even at the knowledge that they have brought their labors to a successful conclusion. The strain of excitement here has been extreme and constantly increasing for a number of days. There has been a growing feeling that if the committee failed to agree upon a plan very serious trouble was inevitable. It was pretty generally known that the extremists of both parties were secretly opposing all accommodation, and that they would spare no means to defeat an agreement, and the belief that a failure to agree was equivalent to a declaration of civil war was so strong that the people who are most accurately informed of what goes on here in political circles have been greatly depressed and alarmed. The wisest men in Washington of both parties have expressed the belief that without some preliminary agreement the meeting of the two Houses on the 14th of February would break up in disorder and in such excitement as would inevitably lead to public outbreaks in many parts of the country. Nor is it believed that the danger is yet entirely over, for there is an apprehension that efforts will be made in both Houses to defeat the measure on which the joint committee have agreed, and it is urged here very strongly that meetings shall be held in all the large cities, as soon as possible, of citizens of both political parties, to urge and demand that Congress shall adopt the measure at

An old and wise Republican here, not in office or in Congress, said to-night:—
"If the joint committee's plan, whatever it may be, is adopted, the country will be safe, and not only that, but all cause for uneasiness will be removed and business will take an immediate start. All the signs of the times point to an almost immediate return of great prosperity to the country if only we can get this question settled. There is good reason to believe that we shall have a great and continual increase of busines and commerce. Events in the Old World are such as will give us the command once more of foreign markets .-Numerous public enterprises at home only wait for an assurance of peace, and the people all over the country ought to meet at once and demand that Congress shall adopt the joint committee's plan. The mere adoption of it will restore confidence and start the wheels of business all over the land. Mr. Payne, chairman of the House branch of the joint committee, refused to-night to give any details of the bill or its accompanying report. He said that before the members of the committee parted, which was in the vicinity of halfpast six o'clock this evening, they adopted a resolution continuing the injunction of secrecy concerning their proceedings, except as to the fact that a plan had been agreed upon and that it would be reported to both houses to-morrow. Mr. Payne said that the object of allowing this much of their business to be made public now was to allay, at the earliest possible moment, the excitement prevailing in the public mind, and to contribute, as far as they could by so doing, to help the immediate revival of trade and commerce. There were cases, ne said, where twenty-four hours made difference enough to a merchant to save him from bankruptcy, and the commit-tee, in their solicitude for the vast busi-ness interests which were suffering by the pending anxiety as to the result of the Presidential controversy, were desir-ous of affording hope and relief at the earliest practicable moment.

The joint committee did not, it is understood, come to an agreement without great labor and much difficulty, but the members of the two parties are said to have parted from each other this evening with most cordial handshakings and expressions of respect and esteem at the patriotic and unpartisan attitude in which each side found the other. Some of the members, while revealing nothing that passed in the committee room, have not withheld from their friends their admiration of members of the opposite party, and their amazement and pleasure that only a patriotic desire to come to a just conclusion animated the members. It is evident that the committee themselves felt the full importance of the work put upon them. Some of the members declare that they have scarcely slept for several nights, and all are this evening in the frame of mind of men who have escaped a great danger. There are a good many merchants and business men here from different parts of the country, and these are all rejoicing at the report this evening of an agreement. A good deal of emotion was shown among men not politicians at the happy result. "The country gets new life, a renew-al of its life," said an elderly man. "We may now hope that our great grandchildren will live in a united land. It is not only that business will revive, that our energies will once more go out in useful directions; what moves me is that there has been patriotism, love of justice and of country enough to enable the members of this joint committee to agree.

Men who take a business view of the happy event are evidently relieved of an oppressive burden, and declare that. Now nothing can prevent the country from going ahead on the way to an unprecedented prosperity. The only obstacle is as good as removed; confidence will be restored, and industry and trade

The plan agreed upon is for to-night kept very private, but enough has drop-ped from various various persons in various ways to make it certain that the following statement will not vary from the actual report: The Grand Committee is to consist of five members of the Senate and five of the House, each party choosing its own members in party choosing its own members in caucus, and, besides these, four members of the Supreme Bench, selected from the whole number according to geographical divisions of the country. Accordingly it is believed the judges of the First, Third, Eighth and Ninth circuits have been agreed upon, these being Justices Clifford, Miller, Strong and Field. These four are to select a fifth. To the committee of fifteen members, thus composed, are to be re-ferred the questions relating to the disputed States, which are understood to be Florida, Louisiana and Oregon.— The committee, composed of members of both Houses and experts, as many other committees have been formed, notably the Silver Commission, will report its conclu, ions to the two Houses and its report will stand unless both

Honses unite in rejecting it. Finally, the measure will come into operations as soon as it is passed and signed by the President, and the count of the vote will not therefore wait until the usual time, the 14th of February, but will proceed at once. Thus the country will be the sooner relieved of

The two committees will report to the two Houses to-morrow soon after the session opens, and there will be a formal report accompanying the bill, in which the nature and effect of the measure will be explained at some length, and its points defended on constitutional grounds.

There is the best reason to believe that the bill will pass both Houses with but little delay. The joint committee is nearly unanimous, standing this evening thirteen to one, and it is still hoped that this one opposing member will tomorrow morning agree to sign the re-port. There have been rumors all the time that one member stood out and was opposed to any plan, believing that none could be agreed on.

Your correspondent is enabled to say positively that the President will sign the bill as soon as it is brought before him, and that he does not mean to delay the measure a moment. There is no probability of any objections being made in the Houses which will earry weight against the bill. It is said that some of the more extreme Democrats contend that the House, being a more numerous body than the Senate, its share of the Grand Committee ought to be the greatest, but it is doubtful if any one will raise so absurd a point. The objections, if any are made, will come from men of both sides who are opposed to any agreement whatever, and whose plans look to no compromise of any kind. There are such men, whose only reply to moderate counsels is, "Hayes is elected and must be put in," "Tilden is elected and must be put in."

It does not seem probable to-night that the Houses will listen with much patience to arguments having this for the'r base. In the presence of the great danger to the country the moderate men of both sides have been drawn together in friendly counsel, and they are certain to be found acting together in numbers sufficient to pass the measure after proper and not prolonged debate. Members and Senators of both parties have been made to feel, through their prite correspondence, that every interest of the country is suffering severely from the anxiety caused by the Presidential squabble, and that relief is imperatively demanded. If there should be immediate and strong expressions of satisfaction from business men in different parts of the country, it is not improbable that all opposition would disappear and that the bill would be adopted unanimously in both Houses, would not add force to the measure, which covers all points and is a finality as soon as it is passed and signed, would yet be a happy event for the country as showing the universality of patriotic feeling, but it is already evident, even before the precise nature of the measure is known, that those who may stand out against it, if there shall be on either side, will incur odium as unreasonable A PROLLAMATION

An Usury Law -- A Necessity.

To the Editor of the News: Sir:—There is a party in the State in favor of repealing all Usury laws, and of allowing the rate of interest upon money loaned to be regulated by the law of supply and demand. This party is composed chiefly of the monied men or capitalists of the State. We wish to offer a few considerations conversions fer a few considerations concerning the necessity of an usury law. We remark first upon the antiquity and universality of usury laws. From the days of Moses, who enacted an usury law for the Jews to prevent their oppressing one another, until now, usury laws have been deemed a necessity in the experience of all civilized nations. Secondly. We remark that the fact of the existence of usury laws from this remote antiquity among all civilized nations until now is conclusive proof that there is a relation or antagonism of interest between the lender and borrower which requires to be equalized and regulated by the sovereign power

3rd. That this relation or antag mism of interest between lender and borrow-er grows out of the fact that each party demands the highest per centage of profit which can be produced from the money loaned.

4th. That this antagonistic relation of lender and borrower unless regulated by law, always as a general rule results in the oppression of the borrower by the lender and always will, so long as acquisitiveness is a dominant characteristic of man and money is the root of all

5th. That the capitalist being the money lender, and the laborers or the industrial class generally the borrowers. This antagonism of interest unless adjusted by law is destructive of the utility of money as a factor in the development of the industrial resources of the State and consequently of its wealth power.
6th. The capital and labor, the chief elements of the weath and power of the State, being in an abnormal and antagonistic relation, it is the duty of the sovereign power (the State) to equalize and determine the per centum of money between borrower and lender for the common good.

7th. That in determining upon an equitable basis the percentage of money between lender and borrower it is of the first importance to know what is the chief it dustry of the State, and secondy its average per centum of profit above the cost of production.

8th. That if an usury law establishes greater rate of interest between the money lender and borrower than the average per centum of profit of the chief industry of the State, it will tend in evitably to the enrichment of the capitalists, the money lenders, and the impoverishment of the industrial classes, he money borrowers.

9th. That the chief industry of North Carolina being agriculture, 269,238 of the population being agriculturalists, 51,290 manufacturers, while only 19,179 are tradesmen and its average per centum of profit on the cost of production being less than six per cent., an neary law establishing a higher rate of interest to the money lender would embarrass and prevent the development of the chief industry of the State.

10th. To repeal all usury laws and leave the relations of borrower and lender in an abnormal condition, when money is scarce, would result in the op-pression of the laborer, the ruin of all business enterprise and the bankruptcy of the State.

11th. From the foregoing considerations we affirm that an usury law is necessary to the development of the industry of the State, and that these propositions embrace the conclusions of the industrial classes, and furthermore, that the party which repeals all usury laws must "step down and out" of all control and government of the State. LETTER FROM CALIFORNIA. The Raleigh News on the Pacific

KERN Co., California, Jan. 8, '77. To the Editor of the News: SIR: I wonder if the NEWS gives as much pleasure to all of its readers as it does to the small circle of North Carolinians, who live here on this "ragged edge" of civilization?

It is passed from ranche to ranche, and is literally read all to pieces.

It did good service here during the campaign, as a good many Republicans read it from curiosity to see what "t'other side" had to say, and it had its influence. The News is quoted more by the leading papers of this coast than any other Southern paper.

I have no idea of writing you a letter, but just wanted to let you know how

The tand you took during the campaign has been admired by the "Tar Heels" has seen admired by the Tai teels her, for we feel an intense interest in cerything at home, and North Carolia is still "our home," and Vance "our Governor," as when we fought unter the "bars" years ago.

Roumania to be Neutral .- The Action of the Grand Council -- Midhat Wire-Working -- The Situation Still in a Muddle.

LONDON, Jan. 19. . The Standard's Vienna correspondent says that Roumania has resolved to declare neutrality in case of a Russian and Turkish war.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 19.—The only dissenting voice in the Grand Council was that of the Armenian Pretestant Bishop, who suggested that the decision should be left to the discretion of the Government. He was shouted down, the council being all of the opinion that the Government was not entitled to decide such a momentous question. It is rumored that Midhat was the principal obstacle to the acceptance of the proposals and the whole business was rehearsed beforehand to intimidate the saltan who really wished to yield.

London, Jan. 19 .- The Times of to-day referring to the result of the conference says this event will surprise nobody. Those whom it will disappoint are few er than they may have been even at the opening of the new year. "The friends of the Turks are naturally delighted at the spirit of courage displayed by the Porte, and the supposed humiliation which has befallen the diplomatists who presumed to trespass on the sovereign rights of the Sultan. What will be the effect of the Porte's decision on the peace of Europe? There are those who declare themselves absolutely certain that Russia will not attack Turkey. There are those on the other hand who profess to detect consummate astuteness in General Ignatiff's moderation and who will now say that he knew from the first how surely the fanaticism of Constantinople would force the Porte to open defiance on this subject. shall be content to form a judgment on events as they occur, without speculation or prediction. There can be no doubt that Russia is in a most difficult position, between war, from which it can expect no permanent advantage, and the pledge, which if not redeemed, will discredit the throne. In any case it is not to be assumed that a decision for peace or war will necessarily be made at once. It is quite possible that weeks may pass amid new diplomatic overtures, before Russia thinks it convenient to announce her final resolution Perhaps the dissolution of the confer ence marks the beginning of a new phase in which the western powers will be for a time inactive, and the three imperial courts will once more concern themselves with the business.

WASHINGTON,

The Interminable Telegrams -- Dispatches to be Produced--Resolutions of the Pennsylvania Legislature.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.-The Executive Committee of the Western Union Telegraph Company, appeared before the House Cemmittee on privileges and powers and were released from their subpæna upon producing a resolution of their body directing that all the despatches of a political character should be produced. A committee of three was appointed to act with a like comof the committee on Privileges and Elections of Senate to arrange the details for examination of these dispatches. The telegraph superintendent, managers and operators who are here or en route will be discharged upon putting in an appearance. The House will pass a resolution discharging Barnes the New Orleans manager, who is in custody for contempt.

There seems no doubt about the passage of the bill reported by the joint committee on counting the electoral vote. In the Senate Mr. Cameron of Pennsylvania presented the resolutions recently adopted by the Pennsylvania Legislature declaring that the will of the people in the election of a President and Vice President can only be declared in the manner prescribed in the Constitution, and denouncing any threats of violence or attempt to cast out the electoral vote of any State by either house of Congress, and further that the certificates of the electors from the various States are the constitutional evidences of the votes cast for President and Vic President and must be counted, ordered to be printed and lie on the table.

NIGHT DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON.

Col. Pelton's Testimony -- Examination of Telegrams -- Congressional -- Spicy Debate in the Senate-Boggy Calls Packard by the Right Name and Sherman Defends His Friend.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The first halfmillion has been awarded to the Eades Before the committee on Privileges and Elections Col. Pelton testified that he had no recollection of sending a dispatch to Senator Kelly that Oregon would be depended on for one vote. The committee appointed a sub-committee to examine telegrams in connection with the House committee. The evidence of Superintendent Brenner, before the committee on the privileges and powers, was confined to the manner of handling dispatches. He was discharged. House.—Wells and Anderson were presented at the bar of the House, but their cases were postponed till the arrival of the other members of the Board. The day was devoted to private bills. In the Senate a motion was made to a ljourn to Monday. Mr. Edmunds said that if the bill reported by the select committee yesterday should become a liw, the first act to be done under it must be done a week from Tuesday. The Senate should take the bill up tomorrow, so by nextTuesday they might destroy it by manly blows or pass it, and not destroy it by smothering it or postponing its consideration. He hoped the Senate would not adjourn over. The motion was withdrawn. Louisiana affairs were discussed to g eat length by Sherman and Bogy, d tring which the galleries were cleared or account of demonstrations of applause. Sherman defended the action of the Returning Board and quoted f om the testimony to show that viol-I nee and intimidation did exist during the canvass, and the Board was justified in throwing out certain returns. He argued that the ex parte testimony presented by the senator from Missouri did not show that violence did not exist. The Senator, Mr. Bogy, had spoken against Packard; that was not right. Packard was a man of character and standing. What had he done? Had he murdered and robbed?

Mr. Bogy :- He has robbed and done nothing else. Mr. Sherman was surprised to hear such a remark from the Senator.

Mr. Bogy said the character of Packard in New Orleans ard in New Orleans was that of an infamous robber. [Great applause in the galleries on the right of the chair.] Mr. Sherman, after regretting the necessity of clearing the galleries, referred to Louisiana again and said he did not know Mr. Packard, but he had heard him spoken of as a man of honor; when a Senator on the floor of the Senate arraigned a Governor of a State as infamous, he abused his privilege as a Mr. Bogy:-I do not admit that he is Governor. Mr. Morton, of Indiana, said he regretted to hear the Senator from Missouri speak as he did about Gov. Packard. He (Mr. Morton) was not under any personal or political obligations to Gov. Packard, but he was somewhat familiar with Louisiana affairs, and he had never heard him spoken of as a man of bad character either as a politician, in society or in business. Among the jobs heard of in Louisiana during the past five years Packard was never mentioned as interested in any of them. He spoke at length of Louisiana affairs and referred to the difficulties at the Mechanies' Institute, Coushatta Parish, &c. and argued that violence and intimida-tion prevailed in Louisiana for years.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 19 .- The circular of the cotton brokers' association says that cotton was quiet throughout the week, with a comparatively limited business. There was a very free supply and prices for almost every description are lower. American has been in moderate request, and prices for medium and lower grades have declined about 3-16. For Sea Island the demand was small and prices remain steady. In futures business was moderate, with daily fluctuations in prices. | IH - HATT IR -- HATT 101
